**Starting GCD 2025, Sangeetha Saagara MS Subbulakshmi award will be a separate category for Vocal participant and open to Intermediate Plus and above age group. For additional details, refer to rules section.

1. The 2025 registration fee is $60 per competition per participant. No refunds/adjustments/credits will be offered for no shows, cancellations, etc., even if for any unforeseen reason, once the registration form has been submitted and payment remitted.
2. Talam assistance is limited to Instrument and Percussion categories only and from judges only. No one from the audience is allowed to assist and violations may lead to disqualification of participants.
3. Participation in each competition will occur in a computer generated random order or possibly based on logistical considerations such as in the case of certain instrumental competitions. Anyone missing when their turn comes up will be moved to the bottom of the competition or disqualified.
4. Participants are allowed to compete in an age group above their own, however, in such cases, participation is judged purely on the merits of their rendering and no allowance will be given for their actual age.
5. The number and type of prizes awarded in each competition will depend both on the number of participants and the judges' scoring and feedback of all participants within that competition with final decision of the Board. All participants, however, can download a certificate of participation from their account on the website.

6. Judges' scores are final and binding and not open to the public. No other feedback will be available .
7. If you have won the first prize once in a particular competition (by age group and category), you CANNOT compete in that same combination again. You may compete in the next higher age group or in a different category of music. For example – if you have won the first prize once in the Junior Vocal Krithi competition, you can compete in any competition within the Intermediate age group or in Instrumental Krithi or Percussion competitions within the Junior age group.
8. Winners from previous years' GCD competitions are not allowed to repeat any winning Krithi or Ragam performance (in the case of Alapana competitions only) this year, even if they have moved to a higher age group.
9. Each individual is allowed to participate in multiple competitions, up to a maximum of 7 competitions.
10. Time limits are strictly enforced by a timekeeper in each competition room. Participants may be given visual cues when there is 1 minute and/or 30 seconds time remaining for the performance. Participants may be stopped if their performance has not concluded when the time limit has been reached. Although no marks are deducted for a participant whose performance is stopped when time has expired, credit may be given to participants who plan and execute songs in their entirety based on the time granted, especially in the event of a tie or marginal difference in scoring among participants in a competition.
11. Each participant must make their own arrangement for Sruthi. All instruments must be tuned prior to coming on stage.
12. CMANA reserves the right to combine or split groups based on administrative convenience and participation.
13. Decisions of CMANA GCD Coordinators and/or Board members – individually or in combination are Final. All participants agree to abide by such decisions.

Special Awards and Concert Opportunities

- Founders' Prize/Junior Musician title – The top-ranking participant in the Advanced competition is awarded the opportunity to present a full concert at the following year's GCD event as the "Junior Musician" and awarded the Dr. P. competition this year, presentation of the concert opportunity and award will be determined based on the judges' scores and the final decision of the Board.

- Sangeetha Saagara M.S. Subbulakshmi Award – Starting GCD 2025, to be participate for this award, an individual must also register for and participate in either one of the categories: Krithi, Swaram OR Alapana Vocal competitions within the Intermediate Plus or Senior age group. Past winners of this award are ineligible to receive the award again.

- Teachers' Day Concerts – Prize winners of GCD competitions from various age groups may be given opportunities to present mini-concerts as part of the following year's CMANA Teachers' Day function subject to schedule availability on a first come first served basis. Such communication will be sent to all members by an email communication.

Competition-Specific Notes

1. Pallavi/Advanced - Judges will ask theoretical questions, make requests and/or pose challenges for those participating in the Pallavi and Advanced competitions. Judges will likely request portions of each item given by the participant for presentation in any combination and order within the time allotted.
2. Sangeetha Saagara M.S. Subbulakshmi Award/Senior/Intermediate Plus/Intermediate – Judges will ask theoretical questions or make requests in competitions within the Sangeetha Saagara M.S. Subbulakshmi Award participants/Senior age group and may do the same in competitions within the Intermediate and Intermediate Plus age groups. At their discretion, judges may request portions of each item given by the participant for presentation in any combination and order within the time allotted.
3. Though there is commonality in participants presenting krithi, alapana and swaram when competing for the Sangeetha Saagara M.S. Subbulakshmi Prize or the Founders' Prize/Junior Musician title, the important distinctions between the two (aside from all format-related ones) are as follows:
  - a) Sangeetha Saagara M.S. Subbulakshmi Award: The Sangeetha Saagara M.S. Subbulakshmi Award combines krithi, alapana and swaram presentation and has only vocal participants tested, the focus of evaluation is more technical, i.e. based on the actual rendition and whether the participant can present all element correctly and artistically.
  - b) Founders' Prize/Junior Musician title: Given the Advanced competition combines krithi, alapana, swaram and neraval presentation and combines both vocal and instrumental participants, the performances are more concert-style and the focus of evaluation is more on the overall presentation and the participant's ability to demonstrate more advanced talents/skills (showing flexibility, thinking and reacting
